ACT ORIGIN AND HISTORY

The ACT originally stood for American College Test and was based off of the lowa Tests of Educational Development. The goal for the ACT as an alternative to the SAT was that it wouldn't just test cognitive reasoning; it would test information actually learned in school. It was the first standardized test to include a science section. It was also more focused on identifying strengths and weaknesse to guide student placement rather than determining cognitive reasoning strength across the board like the SAT.

The first ACT was administered to 75,460 students in 1959. The original sections were English, Mathematics, Social Studies, and Natural Sciences, with 45 minutes for each section and scores on a scale of 0-36. It gained popularity as a college admissions exam in the central and midwestern US where the SAT had not yet established its dominion. In fact, part of the purpose of the ACT was to provide other colleges and public universities with an admissions exam to use since the SAT was only used by selective institutions in the northeast.

1. MAKE THE STUDY PROCESS AUTOMATIC.

- · Safe and consistent environment
- $\cdot$  Large impact through small, incremental, daily work

2. CONTENT EXPERTISE first, then TIMING and SPEED.

- Misconceived priority = timing
- Content mastery takes 4-6 weeks

3. BUILD TEST FLUENCY

- What is the question REALLY asking?
- Familiarity: types, passages, formatting, timing, strategy

4. Test EARLY and obtain FEEDBACK

- Illness requires an early diagnosis from a doctor
- Available resources: test prep organizations in your city, online, and the collegeboard

5. RISING JUNIOR summer prep then JUNIOR YEAR exam

- Take the test ONCE, but no more than THREE times
- Take the exam like you mean it

6. Prepare to FAIL. And fail often.

- Fixed vs. Growth Mindset
- Statistics: 4 exams minimum over 6 week study period
- SAT/ACT is a standardized test

7. REVIEW, REVIEW.

- Rule of thumb: Spend equal time studying versus reviewing
- · Consistent, disruptive effort

8. Testing ANXIETY is NORMAL.

- Historical record of success
- Seek professional guidance and therapy, as needed

FAFSA DEADLINES

- The FAFSA should be completed as soon as possible after October 1 of the senior year in high school and each subsequent year in college.
  - The FAFSA cannot be filed before October 1, as it requires income information from the prior tax year.
- Families should NOT wait until after the student has been admitted by a college or they have filed their federal income tax returns to submit the FAFSA.
- 3 states have very early deadlines for state grants, some as early as February 1.
- 9 states and some colleges award their grants on a first-come, first-served basis, until the money runs out.
- It is important to submit the FAFSA as early as possible after October 1st of each year, but no later than June 30° Students who file the FAFSA in the first three months get more than double the grants, on average, of students who file the FAFSA later.

SAT Overview

Source: https://collegereadiness.collegeboard.org/

SAT OVERVIEW The SAT is a standardized college en

The SAT is a standardized college entrance exam that's accepted by every college in the U.S. and over 600 institutions internationally. It assesses the knowledge and skills your child is learning in the classroom—the same skills that are key to success in college and career.

FAST FACTS

- The SAT is administered seven times a year in the U.S. at test centers throughout the country. See SAT test dates.
- Most students take the SAT for the first time in spring of their junior year; some take it again in fall of senior year. Learn more about when to take the SAT.
- $\bullet$  Students can take the SAT as many times as they like; we recommend taking it at least twice.
- Some schools participate in SAT School Day, which lets students take the test in school, during the school day. Learn more about SAT School Day.

OGENSE ZATERS

FAST FACTS

- Students can choose whether to take the SAT Essay portion of the test, but some colleges require it. See which colleges require the SAT Essay.
- Most students pay a fee to take the SAT, but income-eligible students can take it for free with a fee waiver.
- Students tell the College Board which colleges to send their scores to. Colleges then review their SAT scores as part of their application.
- Different colleges evaluate SAT scores differently. In general, test scores aren't the most important part of a student's application—their high school transcript is.

FAST FACTS

- The SAT connects your child to scholarship opportunities as well as to colleges that are looking for students like them.
- In addition to the SAT, there's another college entrance exam called the ACT. The ACT isn't associated with the College Board. View the SAT vs. ACT comparison chart.
- Read More About It
- For Students: SAT Home
- For Students: Register for the SAT

HOW TO REGISTER

- Your child must sign up to take the SAT by the registration deadline for the test date they choose. When they register, they also choose a testing location; there are test centers throughout the country, and your child should be able to reserve a seat at a center near you. The test center may even be their high school.
- Remember: You can't register for your child. The registration has to be under your child's name and connected to your child's College Board online account. However, many parents help their child through the registration process. There's a registration fee, which can be paid by credit card or via PayPal.
- Read More About It
- For Students: SAT Registration Home

ON TEST DAY

- Test center doors open at 7:45 a.m. on test day and close at 8 a.m. Parents aren't allowed in the building during testing. If your child is taking the SAT with Essay, they should finish testing around 1 p.m.; otherwise they'll be done around noon.

SAT PRACTICE

- Your child can practice for the SAT for free by using Official SAT Practice on Khan Academy, where they can get a personalized study plan by taking short quizzes or providing their scores on the PSAT/NMSQT, PSAT 10, or PSAT 8/9.
- They'll also find interactive problems, video lessons, and full-length practice tests. Official SAT Practice shows your child which specific skills they need to work on most and customizes their practice plan to help them turn areas of weakness into areas of strength.
- Here's another reason to encourage your child to use Official SAT Practice: A recent study showed that 20 hours of practice on Khan Academy is linked to an average 115-point increase from the PSAT/NMSQT to the SAT.

SAT PRACTICE

- Other free ways to practice include the Daily Practice for the SAT app, full-length practice tests, and online practice questions. You can also buy The Official SAT Study Guide at bookstores everywhere or at the College Board online store.

200 da 2ales NETWORK

SAT SCORES

- In general, your child will be able to see their scores online about 13 days after test day. If they have a College Board online account, they'll get an email letting them know their scores are ready. Then they can log in to see their scores and send them to colleges.
- Your child's online score report includes detailed information on their test performance so they can see which areas they're strongest in and which areas they need to continue developing as they prepare for college.

SAT SCORES

- Most colleges want an official score report from the College Board—they don't accept copies or screenshots. We send these score reports to the colleges that your child requests. Your child gets four free score sends with registration—they can choose their score recipients at registration or up to nine days after test day. There's a fee for sending scores after that deadline or sending additional score reports.
- If your child is eligible for an SAT fee waiver, they can send as many scores as they want to colleges for free. Some colleges require applicants to send all SAT scores, while others encourage them to send only their best score or best section scores, even if they're from different SAT tests.
